Consist is Tanium's first German managed security services partner

Tanium Inc. and Consist Software Solutions GmbH enter into partnership

Endpoint Security has received increased attention in companies, not least due to Corona. Consist now enables the use of Tanium's comprehensive security architecture in Germany as well.

Kiel - The complexity of IT and the spread of tools in today's corporate environments has increased significantly. This makes it all the more important to gain a complete overview of critical IT resources, be it laptops, servers, virtual machines, containers or cloud infrastructures.

Compliance and vulnerability management for IT infrastructures is often operated with several platform-dependent individual solutions. This creates a lack of transparency and security gaps.

Consist has therefore now expanded its security portfolio with Tanium. As a partner of Tanium, Consist can now combine its offerings with the uniform endpoint management and security platform from Tanium in order to help companies to manage technology risks continuously and to close security-critical gaps in the visibility of endpoints. Instead of many individual solutions, the required security modules are integrated here on the basis of a single platform.

After implementation by its security specialists, Consist can take over support in its managed services if required. Continuously secure, policy-based management for an upwardly open number of end devices is guaranteed - and this in real time.
